TOPIC:

“Appraisers in the Arbitration Setting”

By preference, parties now increasingly turn to expedited decision-making by professionals--i.e., arbitrators--to resolve their disputes. In valuation disputes handled through arbitration, appraisers have important roles to play as neutral arbitrators, expert witnesses or advisors to the contending parties.

This presentation will discuss the who, what and when of current arbitration practice, including the requirements of the Hawaii Uniform Arbitration Act (Hawaii Revised Statutes Chapter 658A) and case law, and will also identify some of the pitfalls that may be encountered.

Your questions will be welcomed and encouraged.

Ms. Fazio has practiced law since 1978. Her practice focuses on real property and complex commercial litigation and arbitration matters. She has lectured regarding real estate matters and legal ethics at various professional seminars and has received numerous professional honors. Relevant to her presentation to us, she has been named as one of the best real estate and eminent domain/condemnation lawyers in Hawaii in The Best Lawyers in America, 1995 to present editions, and as one of the leading Hawaii real property lawyers in America's Leading Lawyers for Business (Chambers USA).
